

Keihin's environmental information disclosure

At Keihin, we publicize environmental information through our website (<http://www.keihin-corp.co.jp/>).

In this environmental report, we introduce “fundamental thinking towards the environment,” “environmental goals for the future,” and “environmental conservation activities performed in various areas.” We also accurately present Keihin’s work towards the environment from the planning stages to its realization.

With this report as one of our yearly environmental activities, we hope that you will recognize our efforts. By using the report as a tool for communication, we also hope to further enhance our environmental activities.
This report was created using Keihin’s independent standards.
